8. DW 1 Sh. Ajay Kumar S/o Sh. Ramveer, R/o D 11, Krishna Block, IGNOU Campur, Maidangarhi, Delhi wherein he deposed that he have no transaction with the complainant Ramesh Chand. He had a transaction with one Sh. Nand Kishor Goyal where the complainant use to work. He had taken a loan of Rs. 50,000/- from Sh. Nand Kishor Goyal which he had already return. Sh. He volunteered that some times he used to come to collect from his office some time he have deposited the amount in his account and some time he have deposited amount in the account of Ramesh Chand upon instruction of Nand Kishor Goyal. He have given 4 blank signed cheques and two blank signed papers to Nand Kishor Goyal. He do not remember the number of the said cheques but the same were of Punjab National Bank. He denied that he had taken a loan of Rs. 5 lakhs from the complainant. He further denied that complainant has no connection with Nand Kishor Goyal. It is further wrong to suggest that the cheque in question was given to complainant against the loan of Rs. 5 lakhs. He had asked for the return of the cheques from Nand Kishor Goyal after repayment of his loan but Nand Kishor Goyal told him that he will give the same later on. He have not taken any legal action against Nand Kishor Goyal qua non returning of his cheques by him. He denied that the transaction between you and the complainant and transaction between you and Nand Kishor Goyal are separate two things. It is further wrong to suggest that he CIS No. 2711/2019 Ramesh Chand Vs. Ajay Kumar Page No 8 of 21 have liability of Rs. 5 lakhs against complainant and the present cheque has been issued for the repayment of the loan taken from the complainant. At that stage, the witness was confronted with Ex. CW1/A on which he replied that in signature the alphabet A does not seems to his but rest part of the signature is seems to be that of mine. Whereas, he had no transaction with Ramesh Chand. The copy of complaint is Ex. DW2/1 (OSR) containing 7 pages. He was duly cross□examined wherein he deposed that he have been called by the accused. It CIS No. 2711/2019 Ramesh Chand Vs. Ajay Kumar Page No 9 of 21 is wrong to suggest that he have been tutored by the accused to depose before the Court today. At this stage, witness is shown document Ex. DW2/1. He states that he do not know the English language. He cannot say if the address of the complainant mentioned in Ex. DW2/1 and in the complaint are different. It is wrong to suggest that the case in EX. DW2/1 and the present complaint are of different persons as the addresses of the complainant are also different. It is wrong to suggest that he is deposing falsely on the behest of accused Ajay Kumar.

10. DW□3 Sh. Sandeep Ahlmad in the Court deposed that he have produced the copy of the complaint bearing CC No. 2710/2019 titled as Ramesh Chand Vs. Sandeep Sachdeva and the same is Ex. DW3/1.

11. Final arguments advanced by Sh. G. K. Singhal, Ld counsel for the complainant and by Sh. Rakesh Rao, Ld. Counsel for the accused have been carefully considered alongwith the entire evidence on record.

12. To prove an offence under Section 138 NI Act, it is required to be proved that:

- (i) The accused issued a cheque on an account maintained by him/her with a bank for payment of money to another from out of that account;
- (ii) That cheque has been issued for the discharge (either in whole or in part) of any debt or other liability;

CIS No. 2711/2019 Ramesh Chand Vs. Ajay Kumar Page No 10 of 21

(iii) That cheque has been presented to the bank within a period of six months from the date on which it is drawn or within the period of its validity whichever is earlier;

(iv) That cheque has been returned by the bank unpaid, either because of the amount of money standing to the credit of the account is insufficient to honour the cheque or it exceeds the amount arranged to be paid from that account by an agreement made with the bank;

(v) The payee or the holder in due course of the cheque makes a demand for the payment of the said amount of money by giving a notice in writing, to the drawer of the cheque, within 30 days of the receipt of information by him/her from the bank regarding the return of the cheque as unpaid; and

(vi) The drawer of such cheque failed to make payment of the said amount of money to the payee or the holder in due course of the cheque within 15 days of the receipt of the said notice.

13. In the case at hand, the accused has not disputed that the cheque in question has been issued on an account maintained by accused with a bank and hence the ingredient (i) is deemed to be proved as not disputed.

14. In respect of ingredient (iii) and (iv), the complainant has testified that the cheque in question ie Ex CW1/B dated 01.11.2018 was returned dishonoured on 06.11.2018. During the cross examination of complainant, no CIS No. 2711/2019 Ramesh Chand Vs. Ajay Kumar Page No 11 of 21 questions were put to the complainant nor any suggestions were given to the complainant as to the cheque not having been presented to the bank within the period of its validity. Hence the ingredient (iii) ie the factum of the cheque in question having been presented during the period of its validity is deemed to be proved as not disputed.

15. Further, with the factum of dishonour of the cheque in question being not disputed by the accused and rather as having been admitted by accused in statement under Sec 313 CrPC, the ingredient (iv) is also deemed to be admitted as not disputed.

16. In respect of the legal notice, as CW1, the complainant has testified that upon dishonour of cheque in question, complainant sent notice dated 05.12.2018 (Ex CW1/C) to the accused for return of the cheque amount vide speed post and courier on 05.12.2018 ie within 30 days of dishonour of the cheque. The complainant also relied upon postal receipt ie Ex. CW□/E, tracking report ie Ex. CW□/F. The accused has however denied receipt of the notice of demand.

17. It is pertinent to note that Section 114 of Evidence Act, 1872 is applicable to communications sent by post and it enables the court to presume that in the common course of natural events, the communication would have been delivered at the address of the addressee. Section 27 of the General Clauses Act envisages that when a registered notice is posted, it is presumed to have been served unless rebuttal is given.

18. In the present case, it is not the case of the accused that the address on which the notice was sent is not accused's address, rather accused has given the same address in the court when accused's statement under Section 281 r/w 313 CrPC was being recorded. Hence the notice was sent by the complainant at accused's correct address. For reasons best known to accused, the accused has not led any evidence in rebuttal to disprove the report given by the postal official either.

19. Further, in CC Alavi Haji Vs. Palapetty Muhammed & Anr. (Crl. Appeal No. 767 of 2007), the Hon'ble Apex Court has held that " Any drawer who claims that he did not receive the notice sent by post, can, within 15 days of receipt of summons from the court in respect of the complaint u/s. 138 of the Act, make payment of the cheque amount and submit to the court that he had made payment within 15 days of receipt of summons (by receiving a copy of complaint with the summons) and, therefore, the complaint is liable to be rejected. A person who does not pay within 15 days of receipt of the summons from the court along with the copy of the complaint u/s. 138 of the Act, cannot obviously contend that there was no proper service of notice as required u/s. 138, by ignoring statutory presumption to CIS No. 2711/2019 Ramesh Chand Vs. Ajay Kumar Page No 13 of 21 the contrary u/s. 27 of the General Clauses Act and Section 114 of the Evidence Act".

20. Thus, keeping in view that except mere denial of receipt of notice of demand, no evidence in rebuttal has been led by the accused as also keeping in view the dictum of the Hon'ble Apex Court, merely on the account of non service of legal notice dated 05.12.2018(Ex. CW□/D) the present complaint cannot be rejected and the same is presumed to have been duly served upon the accused.

21. In respect of ingredient (vi), it is pertinent to note that admittedly the accused has not made any payment to the complainant in respect of the cheque in question till date. Hence even the ingredient (vi) stands proved.

DEBT/LIABILITY

22. It is a well settled position of law that once execution of the negotiable instrument is admitted, the presumption under Section 118(a) NI Act would arise that it is supported by a consideration. However, such presumption is rebuttable and the accused can prove the non□existence of consideration by raising a probable defence. If the accused is proved to have discharged the initial onus of proof showing that the existence of consideration was improbable or doubtful or the same was illegal, the onus would shift to the complainant who will be obliged to prove it as a matter of fact and upon its failure to prove CIS No. 2711/2019 Ramesh Chand Vs. Ajay Kumar Page No 14 of 21 would dis□entitle him to the grant of relief on the basis of the negotiable instrument. The burden upon the accused of proving the non□existence of the consideration can be either direct or by bringing on record the preponderance of probabilities by reference to the circumstances upon which he relies. In such an event, the accused is entitled under law to rely upon all the evidence led in the case including that of the complainant as well. To disprove the presumption, the accused has to bring on record such facts and circumstances upon consideration of which the court may either believe that the consideration did not exist or its non□existence was so probable that a prudent man would, under the circumstances of the case, act upon the plea that it did not exist." (Reliance placed on Bharat Barrel & Drum Manufacturing Company v. Amin Chand Pyarelal, (1993) 3 SCC 35).

23. The NI Act also provides under Section 139 that it shall be presumed, unless the contrary is proved, that the holder of a cheque received the cheque, of the nature referred to in Section 138 for the discharge, in whole or in part, of any debt or other liability. Thus, Section 139 of the Act is an example of a reverse onus clause that has been included in furtherance of the legislative objective of improving the credibility of negotiable instruments. It is a settled position that when an accused has to rebut the presumption under Section 139 , the standard of proof for doing so is that of 'preponderance of probabilities'. Therefore, if the accused is able to raise a probable CIS No. 2711/2019 Ramesh Chand Vs. Ajay Kumar Page No 15 of 21 defence which creates doubts about the existence of a legally enforceable debt or liability, the prosecution can fail. The accused can rely on the materials submitted by the complainant in order to raise such a defence and it is conceivable that in some cases the accused may not need to adduce evidence of his/her own. (Reliance placed on Rangappa vs Sri Mohan, (Criminal Appeal no 1020 of 2010 decided by the Hon'ble Supreme Court).

24. In the present case, from the evidence on record, the accused has been able to bring on record certain facts which make the case of the complainant improbable.

25. Firstly, as per paragraph 2 and 3 of the complaint, it is apparent that complainant have stated that he very well knows the accused since last 4 to 5 years and thereafter he has advanced the cash loan amount of 5 lakhs to the accused on 02.05.2018. In the cross-examination that took place on 04.07. 2022, the complaint have deposed that he is acquainted with the accused to some person namely Ashok Kumar who is also working in IGNOU with the accused. He also met accused at the IGNOU, Maidangarh and the said loan was advanced to the accused as a friendly loan. It does not inspire confidence that the person who has monthly income of the 60 to 70,000 per month and have two sons and a wife to feed that would advance the loan amount of 5 lakh to a person known through a third person Ashok Kumar. Accused in his notice under section 251 Cr.P.C. had CIS No. 2711/2019 Ramesh Chand Vs. Ajay Kumar Page No 16 of 21 categorically stated that he do not personally know the complainant. This also further corroborates the defence of the accused.

26. Secondly, a person who is earning around would be 7 lakhs per annum(to be on lower side) does not file ITR. It also does not inspire confidence that person who is earning such amount would not file an ITR. The financial capacity of the component was challenged during the cross-examination to which the complaint have stated that it is wrong to suggest that his income is not up to the extent that he may forward a loan of 5 lakh in one go to any person in cash. Since financial capacity of the complainant was challenged, it was upon the complainant to prove through cogent evidence that he had enough bargaining power to lend such amount. However complaint have miserably failed to prove so. Hence, they complainant have not been able to prove the financial capacity to advance the loan to the tune of 5 lakh to the accused.

27. Thirdly, it has been stated by the complainant that he has given the loan to the accused and one Mr Rajesh Goel was present at that time. They complainant has failed to examine Mr. Rajesh Goel support the case in his favour.

28. Fourthly, it has also been stated by the complainant that he has never given any money to the accused prior to this CIS No. 2711/2019 Ramesh Chand Vs. Ajay Kumar Page No 17 of 21 alleged present loan. It is apparent that it does not inspire confidence that in view of no financial capacity and accused not being on friendly terms but known to the complainant through one, one Ashok Kumar would lend a amount.

29. The complainant further have deposed that he has not filed any other case of check pounds against any other person in any court. However in view of the deposition by DW - 2 and DW 3, the complainant have within the span of 10 months have filed the case of cheque bouncing wherein he has altogether advance the loan of 19 lakhs. Firstly the credibility of the complainant is shaken to the extent that he has not filed any case against any other person. Even his cases are pending in this court which this court takes judicial notice of. Further the complainant owns around 60 70,000 per month, and does not file ITR and even have failed to prove his financial capacity to the extent of 5 lakh, the complaint have filed cheque bouncing cases to the tune of 19 lakhs within the span of 10 months cast serious doubt upon the credibility of the complainant as a witness and to his conduct.

30. As the Ex. CW1/A, it has been stated that over promissory note, the accused has put his signature. However accused have denied as well as he accepted. In his examination in chief, accused have stated that complainant have got signed some blank papers. During cross examination of the accused, nothing CIS No. 2711/2019 Ramesh Chand Vs. Ajay Kumar Page No 18 of 21 adverse could be found of with respect to this assertion by the accused. Henceforth, probable defence have been raised their evidences can be treated in the favour of the accused.

31. Hence, by bring forth the circumstances as enumerated above, the accused has discharged the initial onus of proof showing that the existence of debt/liability/consideration was improbable/doubtful and hence the onus shifted back to the complainant to prove it as a matter of fact.

32. However, the complainant herein has miserably failed to do so.

33. It is a settled law that standard of proof on the part of an accused and that of the prosecution a criminal case is different and while prosecution must prove the guilt of an accused beyond all reasonable doubt, the standard of proof so as to prove a defence on the part of an accused is preponderance of probabilities (Reliance placed on Krishna Janardhan Bhat v. Dattatraya G. Hegde, (2008) 4 SCC 54).

34. In view of the above discussion and in the totality of the facts and circumstances of this case, the complainant has miserably failed to prove that the cheque in question was issued in discharge of any existing legally enforceable debt or other liability.

35. Hence, with the presumptions arising in favour of the complainant under Sections 118 and 139 of the Act having been rebutted by the accused by preponderance of probabilities, and with the complainant failing to lead clear, cogent and credible evidence to prove that the cheques in question were issued in discharge of any legally enforceable debt or liability, the accused Sh. Ajay Kumar S/o Late. Sh. Rambir is held not guilty for the offence punishable under Section 138 of the Negotiable Act and hence, accused stands acquitted.

36. Accused Sh. Ajay Kumar S/o Late. Sh. Rambir is directed to furnish bail bond and surety bond in the sum of Rs.50,000/□under section 437(A) of the Code of Criminal Procedure and is directed to be present before the Ld. Appellate Court as and when notice is served upon the accused.

37. File be consigned to Record Room after due compliance.
