The issue wise findings are as follows : -

ISSUE NO.1 "1. Whether this Court has jurisdiction to entertain this suit? OPP"

11. Although, the onus qua proving of this issue was upon the plaintiff, however, this Court is of the view that the onus must be upon the defendant. Moreover, vide para '1' of the present plaint, the plaintiff has pleaded that the defendant no.1 had approached the plaintiff at his house Sh. Shonal Gupta v Sh. Pravir Ganguli which is situated within the territorial jurisdiction of this Court. Furthermore, the present suit has been filed for recovery of a total sum of Rs.1,77,000/- which is also within the pecuniary jurisdiction of this Court. In support of his contention, the plaintiff has come into the witness box and has relied upon Ex.PW1/A i.e. certified copy of cheque no.065652 dated 11.03.2015, Ex.PW1/B i.e. certified copy of return memo dated 12.03.2015, Ex.PW1/C i.e. return memo dated 28.04.2015.

Shonal Gupta has stated that it was week end in August 2014 when the defendant along with his wife and 3 The plaintiff has mentioned the amount of Rs.1,83,000/- in the prayer clause of the present petition. Therefore, the present issues was framed as per the prayer of the plaintiff. However, careful perusal of plaint and annexed documents shows that vide the present plaint, the plaintiff has claimed an amount of Rs.1,50,000/- along with interest of Rs.27,000/-. Accordingly, the amount in the present issue would be read as an amount of Rs.1,77,000/- instead of Rs.1,83,000/-.

Sh. Shonal Gupta v Sh. Pravir Ganguli son came to his residence. He further deposed that the family of the defendant told the plaintiff that they are in urgent need of Rs.4 lacs and requested him to arrange the money. The witness further deposed that he did not have the funds. He arranged the funds from his relatives i.e. brother in law Gagan Gupta and Vinod Aggarwal and friends. However, he did not remember how much amount was paid by each of them. The witness did not remember that how much amount was paid by him from his own pocket but he can confirm from his old records. He even did not remember as to how much time, he had taken to arrange the amount from his relatives and friends. He deposed that no written agreement was executed between the parties. The witness further deposed that the cheque was given in the month of March 2015 and the defendant assured that he will pay interest @ 2% per month on the loan amount. The witness further submitted that he has to check his records. Thereafter, upon asking qua checking of his accounts, the witness answered that in his book of accounts, there is no payment of interest on loan amount which he might have mentioned as it was a cash transaction. He deposed that he had called few of his friends out of which two of his friends viz. Vinod Gupta and Sh. Gagan Gupta/Aggarwal have given the money as a friendly loan. He deposed that he has not shown the said loan transaction in his book of accounts. PW1 further deposed that he had paid loan to Vinod Gupta and Sh. Gagan Gupta. He deposed that he did not take any acknowledge qua the said loan amount.

14. Per contra, the defendant in support of his defence has come into the witness box as DW1 Sh. Pravir Ganguli. In his cross examination, the witness has deposed that he know the plaintiff as he was his senior in Sh. Shonal Gupta v Sh. Pravir Ganguli Media Trans Asia and they have worked for 10-15 years together. Upon questioning whether they have any bank transaction during the period of 15 years of their work, the witness answered that there is no bank transaction in those years. The witness has been asked qua filing of any proof regarding the market survey research. The witness answered that he has filed email communication viz. DW1/A, DW1/B and DW1/C in this regard. Upon asking that the witness in his WS has stated that he had given an estimate for Rs.5 lacs for the market survey and had asked for Rs.3 lacs in advance, the witness answered in affirmative. Again upon asking whether he has placed on record the documents pertaining to the quotation of market survey research and advance money, the witness answered that there is no document to demonstrate the same nor there is any email or agreement and it is verbal communications. The witness admitted that he had paid a sum of Rs.1.5 lacs in October 2013. The witness further admitted that he has given a security cheque bearing no.065652 of Rs.1.5 lacs to the plaintiff in October 2013.

15. The plaintiff further admitted that he has given the aforesaid cheque towards the payment of the loan which the plaintiff had extended to him. He voluntarily stated that the cheque was given as a security against the sum of Rs.1.5 lacs that he had received in advance. The defendant viz. DW1 Pravir Ganguli has further admitted that in his written statement he stated that he had issued a fresh cheque for a sum of Rs.2 lac Ex.PW2/A. He further stated that the reason for dishonor of the impugned cheque was due to insufficient funds. The witness further deposed that one of the cheque was dishonoured whereas the payment was stopped for the second Sh. Shonal Gupta v Sh. Pravir Ganguli cheque. Upon showing the return memo dated 19.05.2015 on which the witness admits to stopping the payment. The witness also admits that the same cheque was earlier bounced due to insufficient funds and therefore, it was bounced due to payment stopped by drawer on 07.04.2015 and 19.05.2015 respectively. The witness deposed that he had issued the cheque of Rs.3.5 lac upon asking by the plaintiff as they have already executed the work for a sum of Rs.1.5 lacs and the plaintiff supposed to give him a sum of Rs.2 lacs. The witness deposed that he did not have any proof qua the transaction done between him and the plaintiff. The witness did not remember whether the plaintiff has lost the cheque in the month of December 2013 but he had stopped the payment in May 2015 but if it is on the judicial record then it is absolute correct. He deposed that he had received a sum of Rs.1.5 lacs from the plaintiff but did not send any reminder qua receiving of amount of Rs.1.5 lac as an advance. He deposed that he has sent an intimation qua completion of the project through email to the plaintiff. Upon asking as to where it is written in Ex.DW1/1 and DW1/2 that he had completed the work for the plaintiff. The witness answered that Ex.DW1/2 they have attached the project which means that they have completed the project. The witness deposed that there is no documents regarding the scope of work and the project as they were in verbal. Upon asking that there is no proof of communication in a huge business plan called wellwiser worth Rs.5 lacs. The witness answered in affirmative and stated that there is no communication except for his email.

16. This Court has analyzed the aforesaid evidence led by the parties. By way of the present suit, the plaintiff has sought to enforce the Sh. Shonal Gupta v Sh. Pravir Ganguli liability of the defendant to the tune of Rs.1,50,000/- along with interest of Rs.27,000/- w.e.f. November 2014 to July 2015 on account of a loan of Rs.3.5 lac given by him to the defendant. The defendant, in his WS contented the same on the ground that the said cheque has been given to the plaintiff as a security to start the job work to carry out survey to ascertain the market potential for health care related services offered by the plaintiff and the plaintiff has misused the aforesaid cheque. The defendant in his cross examination has stated that qua the aforesaid job work there were email communication between the parties and has relied upon Mark DW1/A, DW1/B and DW1/C in this regard. However, the defendant, in his cross examination has admitted there is no document to demonstrate the same nor there is any email or agreement and it is verbal communications.

17. The defendant has further admitted that the plaintiff has paid a sum of Rs.1.5 lacs in October 2013. The witness also admitted that he has given a security cheque of Rs.1.5 lacs to the plaintiff although he did not remember the dates due to passage of time. Upon asking whether he know the reason of dishonour of cheque, the witness answered in affirmative and stated that due to insufficient funds. However, upon again asking that whether you stopped the payment in May 2015, the witness answered in negative and stated that he did not remember. The witness further stated that he does not have any written proof qua the transactions done between them. Notably, Mark DW1/2 does not contain any quotation or amount. Even the email conversations, relied by the defendant, but the same does not reflect that the project has been completed. Moreover, it is pertinent to mention herein that the cheques were given in the year 2015 and interestingly, the Sh. Shonal Gupta v Sh. Pravir Ganguli defendant has not filed any complaint or case in any forum against the plaintiff qua misuse of aforesaid cheque. There is no reason to disbelieve the claim of the plaintiff. The testimony of the DW1 Sh. Pravir Ganguli does not inspire confidence. The Court is of the view that nothing as such has come on record to discredit the credibility of PW1 and nothing useful has been elucidated by the plaintiff in order to impeach his veracity.

18. In view of aforesaid discussion, the present issues are decided in favour of the plaintiff and against the defendants. It is held that the plaintiff has granted the loan of Rs.3,50,000/- to the plaintiff. It is further held that the plaintiff is entitled to recover from the defendant a sum of Rs.1,50,000/- i.e. the cheque amount along with simple interest @ 12% per annum⁴ from the date of filing of the present suit till its realization.

ISSUE NO.5 & 6 "5. Whether the cheque bearing no.065652 for an amount of Rs.1,50,000/- was issued by defendant no.1 to the plaintiff for security? OPD

6. Whether the defendant no.1 had carried out any work of health care for the plaintiff? OPD"

19. The findings qua issues no.5 and 6 are being given together because they are inextricably linked to each other. The onus to prove these issues was upon the defendant. However, as discussed above while deciding the issue no.2, 3 & 4, it was held that the defendant has not lead any ocular ⁴ As per the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in Central Bank of India v Ravindra, AIR 2001 SC 3095, the grant of pendente-lite and future interest is a subject matter of the discretion of the Court and not to be governed by the agreement between the parties. Keeping in view the interest being granted by banks in case of term deposits, the plaintiff has been granted simple interest at the rate of 9% per annum.

Sh. Shonal Gupta v Sh. Pravir Ganguli evidence in support of his defence, hence the defendant has failed to prove that the defendant had carried out any work of health care for the plaintiff and the cheque bearing no.065652 dated 11.03.2025 of Rs.1,50,000/- was given by the defendant to the plaintiff for security purpose. Accordingly, these issues are also decided in favour of the plaintiff and against the defendant.

ISSUE NO.7

"7. Whether the suit is bad for non-joinder / mis-joinder of necessary parties? OPD"

20. The onus of leading evidence qua issue no.2 was placed upon the defendants. In order to prove the present issue, the defendant has taken a defence that the defendant no.2 is neither the necessary nor the proper party to the present suit and further the plaintiff has not impleaded Mr. Vijay Aggarwal as a party to the present suit and that therefore, the present suit is bad for non-joinder of a necessary party.

21. Before appreciating the pleadings of the parties, it is pertinent to discuss the law relating as to who is a necessary and proper party in a suit. The Apex Court in the case of Thomson Press (India) Ltd. vs. Nanak Builders & Investors P. Ltd. and others, 2013 (3) ALD 111 (SC) while reviewing the entire law on the subject reiterated the broad principles laid down in Vidhur Impex's case (2012 (8) CC 384) governing the disposal of application for impleadment:

1. The Court can, at any stage of the proceedings, either on an application made by the parties or otherwise, direct Sh. Shonal Gupta v Sh. Pravir Ganguli impleadment of any person as party, who ought to have been joined as plaintiff or defendant or whose presence before the Court is necessary for effective and complete adjudication of the issues involved in the suit.

2. A necessary party is the person who ought to be joined as party and in whose absence an effective decree cannot be passed, the Court.

3. A proper party is a person whose presence would enable the Court to completely, effectively and properly adjudicate upon all mater and issues, though he may not be a person in favour of or against whom a decree is to be made.

4. If a person is not found to be a proper or necessary party, the Court does not have the jurisdiction to order his impleadment against the wishes of the plaintiff.

5. In a suit for specific performance, the Court can order impleadment of a purchaser whose conduct is above board, and who files application for being joined as party within reasonable time of his acquiring knowledge about the pending litigation."

22. Under the circumstances of the present case, the defendant no.2 has already been deleted from the array of parties vide Order dated 03.08.2016. Furthermore, the impugned cheque has been issued by the defendant which has duly been admitted by the defendant. The contention of the defendant that the impugned cheque was given as a security was already discussed vide deciding the issue no.5 & 6. Accordingly, the present issue is decided in favour of the plaintiff and against the defendant. It is held that the present suit is not bad for non-joinder / mis-joinder of necessary parties.

Sh. Shonal Gupta v Sh. Pravir Ganguli RELIEF

23. As a net result of the aforesaid findings, this suit is decreed in favour of the plaintiff and against the defendant. The plaintiff is entitled to recover from the defendant a sum of Rs.1,50,000/- along with simple interest @ 12% per annum from the date of filing of the present suit till its realization.

24. The parties shall bear their own costs. Upon preparation of the decree sheet by the Reader, the file shall be consigned to the record room.
